

Area employment

Progressive will hire 2,000 people in Ohio

Saw
2/7/19

OLIVERA PERKINS
operkins@plains.com

Progressive is hiring 2,000 people in Ohio, the company said.

The openings include those for customer service, sales, multiproduct sales and claims representatives. Other positions include those in marketing, legal, IT and business analysis.

To apply for or find out more about the openings, go to progressive.com/careers.

The car insurance giant's job openings in Ohio are among 10,000 positions it is seeking to fill throughout the United States. Other locations include Phoenix; Austin, Texas; Colorado Springs, Colorado; Sacramento, California; and Tampa, Florida.

Progressive said it is hiring because it is expanding. The company, which had revenue of $30 billion in 2018, has grown more than 50 percent in the past three years, according to a Progressive news release.

"This is the largest hiring forecast in Progressive's history," Lori Niederst, the company's chief human resources officer, said in the news release.

the worthy works of the society.

History lives today: Mayfield Township Historical Society's first meeting of the year will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Mayfield Village Community Room. A presentation of "The Life and Times of Eleanor Roosevelt" will be given. Enjoy cookie sharing at refreshment time.

This is a great opportunity to become a member of the society for just $10. The Bennett-VanCuren Museum is at 610 SOM Center Road in Mayfield Village and is available for tours.

Monday hours are 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Visit the Museum and the Quilters. Monthly meetings with interesting historical guest speakers and educational outreach are just some of Third-graders from the Mayfield School District will start their annual tour of the museum in February. This tour offers enlightenment into how settlers in this area lived — no micro-waves or cellphones, to say the least — and what Mayfield Township has become. Call for further information: 440-461-0055.

I had a unit on early Cleveland in my own third-grade class — and I never forgot those insights. History lives, if we let it.

Mayfield

Traffic complaint, Aintree Park Drive: A motorist said Jan. 29 that the driver of another vehicle had been driving erratically and had blown his horn at her while she was at a stop sign. Officers did not locate the suspect's vehicle, which the woman said had the name of a transportation company on it.

Psychiatric situation, Aintree Park Drive: Officers responded to an apartment Jan. 24 for a complaint about a loud radio being heard with comments about Jewish people.

They spoke to a woman, who said her husband was having complications from a change in medication. She was advised of the complaint and said she would contact the man's doctor.

Animals, Oakton Circle: A resident reported Jan. 24 that a neighbor's dog had been barking for more than an hour and that it was an ongoing occurrence every morning. Officers told the dog's owner that she would be cited if it continued.

Police Blotter

Traffic stop, Wilson Mills Road: A Cleveland man, 31, was cited for unlawful license plates, expired registration and possession of marijuana and drug abuse instruments after his vehicle was pulled over Jan. 22.

Theft from auto, Beta Drive: A Hilton Garden Inn employee reported Jan. 24 that her car keys had been missing and that she subsequently found them in a container next to a coat rack. She said she discovered that someone had entered her vehicle and stolen $150 cash from her purse. She suspected a co-worker. The incident is under investigation.

Juvenile complaint, Highland Road: A man and woman brought their son to the station Jan. 27 because he was acting unruly after having had his phone and driving privileges revoked by his parents.

Officers told the boy he had to follow the rules set by his parents.

Later that day, officers were called to the family's home after the boy began arguing with his father after he had run away from the home and then returned.

Once again, he was told he needed to abide by his parents' rules. He agreed to keep calm.